Fabulous food starts with fabulous produce and that's where this perfect corner of Suffolk comes into its own – quite simply we're surrounded by it.

With the sea on our doorstep and our close proximity to where the days catch is loaded on the Aldeburgh beach, we are able to secure the freshest and most beautiful fish and shellfish. Look west and we're surrounded by rolling farmland from which we are able to source and secure local meats, herbs, vegetables and fruit.

Our restaurant is neither pretentious nor extravagant. It is relaxed and informal and provides a wonderful setting in which to enjoy seriously good food.

Our menus are the inspiration of our talented brigade of chefs who have a passion for using the very best ingredients to produce simple dishes that are big on flavour.

Set in a quiet and private part of the hotel is the Avocet, our private dining room. It's blessed with a stunning sea view and is the perfect intimate setting for parties of up to 20 guests.

Aldeburgh, an area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, has been made famous by artists, writers, musicians and a faithful following of devotees who return time and time again to experience everything this quaint little town has to offer.

The Aldeburgh Festival, Literary Festival, Documentary Film Festival and Poetry Festival have all contributed to making Aldeburgh not only a popular cultural destination, but they have also put Suffolk firmly on the country's festival map. What's more, the Aldeburgh Food and Drink Festival has made this area of the country a real foodie destination. Despite this, it has managed to escape brash commercialism in favour of retaining the style and charm of a bygone age.
